

			Chapter 15 Classwork
Sect.1						Sect.2
Chernozem						Continentality
Ural Mountains						Taiga
Eurasia
Transcaucasia
Central Asia
Siberia
Sect.3						Sect.4
Runoff
Trans-Siberian Railroad
Questions: (Write the Questions)
1. Where do most of Russia's people live? (p. 345)
Most of Russia's people live on the _____ European Plain.
2. How many square miles make up Russia and the Republics? (p. 345)
It stretches over _____ and a half _____ square miles.
3. Name the four vegetation regions of Russia and the Republics? (p. 351)
The four vegetation regions of Russia and the Republics are _____, _____, _____, and desert.
4. Why is the Aral Sea shrinking? (p. 353)
In the 1950s, officials began to take large amounts of _____ from the rivers to irrigate Central Asia's _____ fields. Large scale irrigation projects, such as the 850-mile-long _____ canal, took so much water from the rivers that the flow of water into the Aral slowed to a trickle.
5. What are the main reasons for the construction of the Trans-Siberian Railroad? (p. 355-356)
It was to link _____ to the Pacific port of _____, speed up travel, and populate _____ in order to profit from its many resources.										