I stopped going to NCAA Basketball Officials Camps about 5 years ago. I did it bc I wanted to support my Son's future when he dedicated his time to HS Football. My son is a senior this year and I was going to start back pursuing my interest and dreams of becoming a NCAA D1 Ref. I just didn't know how I would get back on track. Today I received an invite to an NBA officials camp for this Summer. Now I'm not taking this to the bank or thinking I'm going to be an NBA official any time soon.... As some people would think! However, it is a start in the right direction as far as My training and development. I often thought.... God this is difficult to do when people don't know your work and I have been out of the camp circuit for NCAA for a while. God how do I get back in? Well not only did he answer my question but he placed me in communication with an NBA Official. So I am invited for training and we will see what happens. I know that.... I have a TON to learn before July! I was invited to a NBA Official camp..... That is so exciting to me! This may not mean anything to many but it's okay. It means everything to me! I will be prepared!

Chris Miller is with Brenda Johnson at Bogus Basin Mountain Recreation Area. April 11 at 3:49 PM · Boise, ID

We did our first day (1st pic-- Dec 6) and our last day (2nd pic -- April 11) of skiing this year at our lovely local hill, Bogus Basin. In the 4 months in between we skied 30 other days at 14 different resorts around the western US and Canada.

During that time I also achieved a little goal that a friend of mine suggested might be a good retirement activity: skiing 500,000 vertical feet in a season. I finished the season today with 510,532 vertical feet (approximately) for the year.

Needless to say, it was a pretty good ski season for us. Now we are ready for the snow/rain to end, the sun to shine, and the (mountain bike) wheels to roll.

Congratulations to Randy Roberts, Frank Weedon, and Justin C. Roberts for getting a record-setting $3.8 million verdict in Gregg County for the wrongful death of a 24-year-old apprentice electrician at a construction site. The contractor at fault never admitted responsibility but the jury brought justice to the family.

Our first stop in L.A. was The Marathon Store in Crenshaw. While paying our respects, Kevin Jefferson and I provided help cleaning up candles and flowers from the front door so that the store could open today. The store has been closed since #NipseyHustle 's death. However, they are still taking online orders. #themarathoncontinues

Super proud of this Girl!
Last Regional Dance competition of the year, and of her competitive dance career. She got to do some dad/daughter bonding since they took the whirlwind 12 hour trip to and from Austin.
Team dances did great with one diamond and 3 Double Diamond Awards!...

🤔🤔 One thing "My Parents" instilled in me is "SELF-CONFIDENCE".
Using an adjective to describe me can't subtract from who I AM.. I have all the confidence in the 🌐 in me (I instilled it in my children as well). So let me be fat, and let me be GREAT all in the same sentence 🤔🤔🤔🤔.....

Let me shut up and get cross this STAGE!!
