It's official. It's been a magical 14 (!) years at ICE and an awesome 30 year run including 16 great years with IBM. Next = family, charity, dance and tennis lessons with Hilary, some teaching and board work, camping in every national park and finally moving back home to Texas within the next couple of years (with lots more time in Texas right away) to learn to be a cowboy. Can't wait.

Yesterday we were able to get close to 30 people appointments for the #covid19 #vaccine. I'm asking all local organizations to assist me with reaching out to those who need assistance and education on the process. Next week we will continue to assist others with the sign up process. #getvaccinatedcovid19 #vaccinecovid19 #COVID19 #wearmask

If you can think it, Zane can build it!!! Another water trough "pond" (minus the fishes this time!) that Zane built for me. Trying to get the beds back together and decent again after we pulled everything out. As soon as I get home from work I head outdoors until the sun sets, doing a little every single day. It's things like this that just put a big ole' smile on my face!! Want one? Zane can do it for you too! Next time it will be multiple troughs and have it circulate back... See More

Its weird how you can watch zero minutes of college basketball before the tournament starts, read zero articles about the sport, do absolutely no research before filling out your bracket, fill out said bracket in under 5 minutes, and still be crushed when you only correctly pick 8 of the Sweet 16....
