Hey friends,

Our classmate, Brady Johnson, recently had a horrific accident at work and lost both of his arms. Below is a GoFundMe link to help with his medical costs. I'm sure his family will be grateful for any amount you can donate. Class of 86, let's show our support! ❤️

The news has everyone in a frenzy stating that we need to purchase Christmas gifts now because there won't be anything left come mid-November. Here's a novel idea. Maybe we shouldn't worry about the material things. Maybe we should just be grateful for the gift of family, friends, our health, a warm home, food on the table, memories, etc. The list goes on & on of what we have to be grateful for that doesn't come with a pricetag. Maybe this is God's way of telling us it's time for a good old-fashioned Christmas 🌲❤️🍷🍷🍷🌲 (I copied & pasted-you can too)

My periodic reminder that mental health troubles are real and are normal for many people. If you can't sleep (or only want to sleep), if you avoid things you mostly enjoy, if your mind races a billion miles per hour (and a lot of the thoughts are negative), or if you just feel shaky, you may be dealing with anxiety and/or depression. You're not alone. And there's nothing 'weird' or 'bad' about you, that's just how your body and brain function. If you live with mental health worries, you are a lovely human and you are loved. Take a walk, take a nap, do some yoga, breathe, talk to a kind and patient friend, call your doctor. If you need someone to listen, message me. Hang in there.

Fort Worth and Benbrook friends: Today is the last day of early voting. It seriously took me longer to drive round-trip than to vote and submit my ballot. Please go!! This is important for our schools and our Benbrook officials. Commenting only on FB does nothing for the issues on the ballot...get out and vote!!!

Had a blast this weekend with my hubby. We went to Houston and to go to the Houston Interactive Aquarium. My bestie met us there. We had such a great day. I got to hold a python lots of birds and a lemur. I got to pet and feed a sloth named Peaches, got to feed a baby camel and pet a kangaroo and feed a tortoise. This place was pretty cool if you have kids you need to go.
